MAGICAL EFFECTS

DEATH'S WHISPER

Magic Type: Divination

You can now communicate regularly with any intelligent undead in the range of your normal senses. You can carry out a conversation as if it was common everyday speech, provided the undead still has a mouth.

The undead only knows what they have learned in life or since their undeath. They are not compelled to offer a truthful or false answer.

ONE OF US

Magic Type: Necromancy

While wearing this necklace undead now sense you as one of thier own. Becoming more and more like an actual undead creature, you gain a +1 bonus on saving throws against spells, abilities, or effects of sleep, poison, and disease. You are also immune to any corruption effects that would take place in unholy or evil lands.

SMELLS LIKE ROSES...

Magic Type: Transmutation

Any foul smells of death or rot now give off the scent of sweet roses. The fouler the smell, the sweeter the roses become. At times it can even get sickeningly sweet. You have advantage on CON saving throws related to decomposition, rot, decay, corruption , or similar effects.

I'll never look at roses the same again...

SOUL BOUND

Magic Type: Enchantment

Upon wearing this item for the first time, it is immediately soul bound to the wearer. The lei can be donned or doffed as usual and does not require attunement. The effects of this item are only active on the user when within the City limits of Smile Isle.

Should the lei be donned by someone other than the original wearer, the rose petals turn grey and dissolve into ash. The item is then considered destroyed. However, a replacement can be obtained at Smile Isle by getting Lei'ed.
